EDGEWOOD WINS COUNTY CUP

Edgewood won the first Clayton County basketball tournament sponsored and royally staged by Guttenberg in its big, new gymnasium when the best teams of the county were met on February 25 and 26 and overcome by decisive scores. Backed by over half a hundred Edgewood rooters who made the long trip to the river town, the Orange and Black boys battled against great odds to win the big silver loving cup that the team and backers proudly bore to the home town late Saturday night.

Farmersburg-Volga City Fall.

Coach Doyle R. Cottrell on Friday afternoon turned the team loose on Farmersburg with instructions to wipe up the gym with them and get acquainted with the floor and baskets. They more than followed his instructions and gained an impetus through the score of 65 to 6 that seemed to carry the team through the tournament. Besides Capt. Peick, Max Reusch, Bradley Stone, Howard Stalnaker, and Ted Robinson, regular members of the team, Lynn Todd and John Gates were put into the game only to continue the scoring spasm thrown by the Edgewood players.

Volga City was the second team to stand between the Edgewood warriors and the championship. In the contest held late Friday evening, Edgewood piled up an impressive lead during the first half. Apparently resting on its oars, and afterwards somewhat disorganized, the quint allowed Preus, one of the stars of the tournament, to come into action and almost tie them with his uncanny shooting and dribbling. But his spurt was not enough and Edgewood pulled away leaving the final score 35 to 28.

Take Final Two Games

After a good night's sleep and a praise-worthy breakfast provided in the better homes of the river town, the boys waded into Guttenberg before a packed house that wished to see Edgewood defeated. Everything was

BIXBY PARK

Bixby Park, through action of the State Board of Conservation and as a direct result of voluntary contributions from the community and promotion of the affair by the commercial club, has become a state park.

In going down through the awe-inspiring rock-bounded approach to the strip of land lying on either side of Bear Creek, two and one-half miles north of Edgewood, and upon entering that marvelous tract of nature-blessed territory, one wonders just how it has come down to us so unspoiled by human hands. In collaboration with R. J. Bixby, the Woodland Echoes has brought together the facts contained in this article.

Established in 1887

During the years 1887 and 1888, former state Senator, R. J. Bixby purchased three tracts of land from as many different individuals. The parcels were and the territory thus formed was afterward to become known as Bixby Park. Not long after this, the public highway was established through the land, and the natural beauty attracted an increasing number of visitors.

As the resort became better known and more popular, different names

E. H. S. WINS OELWEIN TOURNEY

Edgewood's warriors won their second basketball tournament this year when they defeated Dundee, Volga City, Arlington and Fayette at the sectional state tournament held at Oelwein Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The boys were favored in receiving Dundee, a small school team with inexperienced players as their first opponent and thereby gained acquaintance with the strange floor. The Dundee team was easily defeated and the substitutes, Todd and Gates, used during half of the game. The final score was Edgewood 55, Dundee 8.

Volga City Threatens

In the second tournament of the year, Volga City proved a hard barrier for Edgewood to hurdle, but it was done sucessfully when, after holding the opponent during the first half 9 to 4, Preuss, star center of the adversaries, ran the score up during the last half to 20 all. With half a minute to play, Stone piled on the straw that broke the camel's back when he obtained a field goal ending the game 22 to 20 in favor of Orange and Black.

Arlington Baffled

Arlington was no match for Edgewood in spite of the fact that Edgewood was weak on foul throwing. Up to the center of the floor where the forward wall of the Edgewood defense camped on its trail, Arlington was good, but they found increasing difficulty in penetrating the defense as the game progressed. The contest found Stone doing his best scoring of the tournament, harvesting four field goals. The first half ended 6 all. Readjusting its sights, in the second session Edgewood netted 4 free throws and 5 field goals while holding Arlington down to 3 big counters and 2 free ones. The final count was Edgewood 21, Arlington 14. The peculiarity of the game was that neither Arlington forward scored a single point.

brought into the competition including the high school orchestra, yell leaders, and voluminous cheering and singing. From the start Edgewood took the lead. With Stone covered, Stalnaker swung into action and brought gasp after gasp and cheer after cheer from the spectators. The half ended with Edgewood in front 10 to 6. During the second half, Guttenberge made its best bid for the county title when it brought the score to 16 all. But its hopes were short-lived when the boys from Edgewood roused themselves and went into the lead again never to be headed. The final score was 24 to 20.

Garnavillo fresh from home made a powerful fight for the county cup. In the final game of the tournament Saturday evening before a house that was jammed until the crowd over-flowed onto the gym floor. Stalnaker was a marked man with Hickman, considered one of the strongest guards of the county, following him around. Confident that by stopping Stalnaker the Orange and Black scoring machinery was wrecked Garnavillo let Stone aided by Robinson and Stalnaker, get within scoring range. In the meantime, Peick and Reusch played and air tight game shutting off every possibility of a follow-up shot. Every Edgewood basket was earned and a clean one. Through much of the game, Edgewood played like a perfect machine. As the game drew near its close, it became evident that while Garnavillo had good guarding ability, the Edgewood offense and its own lack of one made defeat inevitable. The final score was 18 to 10.

Many Teams In Tourney.

Every high school of the county was entered in the tournament. Included in the list were Strawberry Point, Littleport, Elkport, Elkader, Luana, McGregor and Monona.

The teachers and pupils of Guttenberg had decorated the gymnasium for the occasion using American flags and crepe-paper banners of each school's colors with neat lettering upon them. The home economics girls fed the boys and coaches cafeteria style in the home economics kitchen giving them tempting toast, eggs, milk, creamed dried beef and other edibles suitable for athletes just before a strenuous game.

The school was proudly displaying a large trophy case of American walnut that the manual training instructor was making which contained what is probably the largest collection of cups and other awards of any school in the county.

E. H. S. WINS OELWEIN TOURNEY

Fayette, the last obstacle between the Orange and Black and the trophies of the tournament, was defeated 21 to 17 in the final as well as thrilling game of the series before a packed house—so packed that the doors were closed before the games started Saturday evening, shutting out numerous Edgewood rooters who had made the trip to see the game.

Fayette, possessed of several sharp shooters, drew first blood at the tip-off but Edgewood soon took the lead and was never tied or headed during the game. The first half ended 14 to 8 in the Clayton county boys' favor. Staging a rally near the end of the second half, Fayette boosted its score to 17 points compared with Edgewood's 18, but aftetr a conference, the final victors drew the opponents down to the Fayette end of the floor and Reusch and Stalnaker, finding openings, clinched the game with pretty field goals.

A large silver basketball, given by the Oelwein business men and a bronze placque were added to the Edgewood prize collection through the victory.

Lamont won the Class A section by defeating Strawberry Point 33 to 15.

Boys Go to Vinton

Edgewood's star cage team travels to Vinton for the district basketball tournament Friday and Saturday where according to the most recent report they will meet their old rivals, Lamont, in the second game of the series. Their second competition will be between the winner of the Britt-Cresco game. Other teams in the tournament will be from Orange Township, near Waterloo, Rudd, Swalesdale and Vinton.

HOME EC. CLUB GIVES PROGRAM

Active members of the E. H. S. Home Economics club held their regular bi-monthly meeting in room eight on Feb. 11. After the business meeting, Valentines were distributed every person receiving at least one. After that, the girls went to the kitchen and had a light lunch consisting of cakes and punch.

Topics for the next meeting were decided upon. "What things make a girl attractive" was one and "Spring Millinery" another. In the latter the girls plan to discuss the kind of hats they are wearing and how to make them. Another topic, "International home economics", will give an opportunity for the club to learn what girls in other countries are doing. Mrs. Cunliffe has been asked to tell what the girls of England are doing in the field of home economics. "Etiquette" is a fourth topic that will be open for discussion and from which the girls plan to get some helpful information.

8th GRADERS TAKE EXAMS

Nineteen eighth graders from the rural schools near Ergewood spent February 17 and 18th as the guests of Edgewood High school while they were taking the winter examinations sent out by the state.

They were Carl Kintzle, Lillie Thurn, Carrie Schlee, Alton Jewell, Ilo Bushaw Helena Culbertson, Ralph Cole, Wayne Carroll, Edward White, Edward Frederick, Wilma Fischer, Harry Purnam, Elsie Wessell, Carl Rizer, Faith Appleton, Zinita Appleton, Genevieve Lighty, and Jessie Kechner.

Mr. Cottrell's recitation room was turned over to them and Supt. Paul K. Gardner conducted the examinations. Each noon they were the guests of the school at the noon-day lunch and on Friday evening, they with their friends or parents were entertained at the basketball games when they saw Edgewood win three contests, two from Elkader and one from Delaware. The pupils will take another examination in April or May.

9th-10th GRADES DISPLAY ABILITY

Having as their guests the members of the faculty and families on Feb. 15, and the members of the board an February 24, the 9th and 10th grade home economic classes wound up their projects by making practical applications of their studies

The 9th grade worked out Valentine scheme of color and menu when they entertained the teachers at the noon day luncheon.

Patriotic decorations and menu to correspond were used by the advanced class in cooking when the members of the board of education were the guests of the department at a three course six o'clock dinner. Vera Rizer was manager of the affair and Charlotte Stone assistant. The menu was

Fruit Cocktail
Pigs in blankets Riced potatoes
Tomato jelly Beet pickles
Combination salad
Parker House rolls Butter
Pineapple Bavarian cream Cakes
Coffee

The girls were all assigned some duty. They all assisted in serving the dinner.

The banquet about wound up the cooking work of the year and the classes are now commencing sewing projects.

Each week a set of fifty or more geography slides is received from the extension division of the University of Iowa. The school has the use of the slides for a week end the only cost is the transportation one way. The collections are sent out on a circuit. They go to Wadena, Iowa from here. So extensive is the range of subjects covered that they have been found useful in the 3-4 th, 5-6th, 10th Agriculture, 11th Geography, and 11th Biology classes.

THE COUNTY TOURNAMENT

Winning the county basketball tournament was not an accident. Such things do not just happen. They are made possible by careful planning and proper backing.

When the Edgewood boys marched off of the Guttenberg tournament floor hugging the big silver loving cup, they won an honor, not only for themselves but also for the community and school, that was well deserved. From the playing of the queintet it was evident that they had sacrificed many pleasures to be in the best condition to play. After grinding through four full-length games in twenty-eight hhours and winning them all, the boys had a reserve of energy that probably no other county team could have displayed.

But the team could not have won without good coaching, without the arrangement of a large number of little details that most people do not know exist, and most of all without the school and community spirit that was willing to see the boys through to the finish.

With spirit, thoughtfulness, and cooperation, Edgewood High can rise to the heights in many ways, just as it did at Guttenberg.

Junior High Declam. Mar. 11.

Twenty members of the junior high school will compete in the annual junior high declamatory contest on March 11. The work is under the direction of Miss Ardis Swordes.

CARRY OFF HONORS IN DECLAM.

Edgewood high school's debating team consisting of Kathryne Lucey, Angie Stone and Francis Wooldridge won two first places at the preliminary contest of the Iowa High School Declamatory contest held in the auditorium March 1. Strawberry Point, Stanley, Lamont furnished the opposition.

Giving the humorous reading used in the county contest, Naughty Zell, Kathryne convinced the judges that she was best at making folks laugh just as she did in the sub-district county contest at Elkader. She was at her best in a reading that spectators said was just suited to her.

Francis presented a brand-new oration, Affairs in Cuba, and according to critics not only deserved the first place given him by the judges but showed improvement over his form when giving his original one, The Martyr President. Angie Stone put up a fight for first place in dramatics, using The Death Disk, but fell short of honors.

According to Miss Ardis Swordes, who has been coaching the contestants, Kathryne and Francis will go to the sectional contest the coming Friday, the place having not yet been announced by the state officials.

TO GIVE GRADE OPERETTA

"Uncle Sam's Family" will be the name of an operetta to be given by the grades, junior high and a few members of the senior high school on Aprill 22.

The musical is such that it may be worked up in the various departments of the school as part of the reguler class work.

FLAG DAY AND ARBOR DAY.

Two faculty committees have been appointed to work up special programs for Arbor Day and the school Flag Day. In each of these programs, numbers will be presented by the various classes and organizations of the school if present plans work out. Arbor day will be celebrated about April 1st and a special school flag day about May 1. The national flag day occurs after school is over.

APPLETON WINS FAME

Lloyd Appleton, Class of 1924, has brought fame to his alma mater, Cornell College and his home town through his unusual accomplishments as captain of the collegiate wrestling team at Mount Vernon.

During two years of competition, Appleton has been undefeated in a regular match, and only lost once, that being last year in the Midwest tournament, when his opponent was given a decision on a time advantage. Appleton was runner-up to the 175 pound champion.

This year his team has been in the limelight having defeated three college teams, two of them from Big Ten universities. Michigan, was defeated at Mount Vernon. At that time Appleton met Donohoe, the Big Ten Conference 158 pound championship of 1926 and defeated him through more aggressive wrestling, having a time advantage of over five minutes. Wisconsin University bowed before the Cornell team. Appleton threw Beck in 3:05 and set a good example for his team. Cornell College acted as host to the Simpson College team and Appleton wrestling out of his class, met Miller in the 175 pound division and won by a fall in three minutes. Although Indiana, clashing with Cornell on its own floor at gained the decision over his opponent by a close score, Capt. Appleton gained the decision over his epponent, Weaver, with a time advantage of three minutes. Appleton is just in his third year of college work.

Gives Advice to E. H. S. Boys

"What advice would you give to the boys who are ambitious to succeed in athletics?" Appleton was asked. "No athlete is any better than he thinks he is," he replied. "By that I mean he must have confidence in himself and feel sure that he is capable of accomplishing the ends that he is striving for. To feel sure of himself, one must know he is in perfect mental Marshalltown's annual is called "Pebbles"; "The Cresset" is the name given to the year book put out by the Chillicothe, Mo. which will have eight pages of snap shots among its features.

NEWS FROM EXCHANGES

Parties and gymborees have furnished amusement in many of the high school exchanging their publications with Woodland Echoes. Pebbles stated that a gymboree was held in the new senior high building at Marshalltown. It consisted of a vaudeville, circus and carnival. A public Orpheum with eight big acts was given at Superior (Neb). Parties have been enjoyed by the Superior (Nebr.) sophomores and juniors, the sophomores of Atlantic (Ia.) and the freshmen of Pipestone (Minn.)

Numerous declamatory contests are reported in the various papers. Ledyard has given its local contest. The winning readings were "The New Order," "The Christmas Substituet," and Willie's First Contest." The winners at Lynn Grove used "The Constitution", "Minnie at the Skating Pond" and "How the La Rub Skates Were Lost."

The journalism class of Atlantic presented a one act play "Idylls of the Press" to the assembly. "Mr. Bob," a comedy in two acts,, has been chosen for the play at Ledyard. "If I were King" was decided upon by the seniors of Wheaton, Ill. "Adam and Eve" is to be given by the Atlantic juniors sometime this month. "Engaged" was a one act play staged before the assembly by the elementary public speaking class of Pipestone, Minn.

The home economics department of Emmetsburg entertained the school board and wives at a dinner and musical program. It is continuing the noon lunch until April. The girls at Fond du Lac, Wis. are studying menus and serving. The home economics girls of Pipestone visited a local bakery.

The general science class of Marshalltown has begun the study of electricity. Artifical ice was made by the physics class at Emmetsburg. Each pupil of the geography class of Emmetsburg is making a scrap book based upon the class work.

The Wapsipincon Camp fire of Olin sponsored a masquerade party given at the home of one of the members. The girls club of Superior, Nebr. presented a program to the assembly. Features were whistling, singing and stunts. Girls Forum, a new department of the True Blue Club has been organized at Shortridge, Ind.

MANY FARMERS MAKE CHANGES

Numerous farmers in the vicinity are changing locations this winter and spring. In most cases they are tenants although four are leaving their own places and moving away. Perry Lighty has located on a farm adjoining Greeley; Raymond and Ivan having entered the Greeley school. Morten Funk has taken his place. Mr. Walker has taken Mr. Funk's place. Charlie Brandenburg has already moved and Ray Petche has replaced him. Henry Fensterman is following James Correll on the Bert Appleton farm. Howard Fensterman is renting John Wessel's farm, the latter establishing a home in Edgewood.

Ewing Wooldridge, after holding a sale moved to Marion, John Hunt starting operations in his place. Of the children, Mildred accompanied her parents, while Francis has remained behind to graduate with his class. Loue Wooldridge has moved onto the farm vacated by Charles Waring and the girls, Lucille, Evelyn and Bernadine are now in the Edgewood school. Mr. Waring has taken up the work on the farm vacated by Stanley Elliot. William Jenkins has leased the James McMonigal farm, the McMonigal's moving to Manchester after the sale. Earnest Haines and Henry Meuller are also moving. Joe Bergin has moved onto a farm near Littleport.

Since Edgewood is the center of a poultry raising area, interest naturally centers in the March activities of this agricultural division.

Emmet Weyant's seem to be getting the largest number of eggs of anyone so far reported. Their flock of 110 Patrick Rhode Island reds is producing fifty eggs a day. Mrs. Weyant says she sold off the hens last fall and kept only the pullets. She plans to raise 200 chicks, hatching them by means of an incubator.

Mrs. James Nading believes it is most economical to purchase day-old chicks. She says she buys about 200 chicks quite early in the spring and then later gets a like number. She is getting about thirty six eggs each day from her flock of 100 Leghorns.

H. E. Sherman erected a scratching shed on the south side of his chicken house last fall. The house takes care of 100 Leghorns and from them he is getting 24 eggs daily. Mrs. Sherman plans to raise 200 chicks this year, hatching them with the incubator.

Alton Rizer improved his poultry equipment last autumn when he built a chicken house that accomodates 100 Rhode Island Reds. Mrs. Rizer's plans call for the hatching of 400 chicks by the incubator method.

COMPLETE HOME B. B. SEASON

Edgewood's three teams completed the home season victoriously when in the final evening of play Feb. 18 Elkader was overwhelmed 57 to 11, the Elkader Midgets lost 16 to 11, while the Delaware girls succumbed by a score of 22 to 7.

The boys started their triumphal march on Feb. 4 when the undefeated Hopkinton team lost to them in a thrilling combat by a score of 30 to 25 . At the same time Dundee defeated the Midgets 20 to19 and the girls the Epworth team 23 to 8.

The triple-header of Feb. 8 found Colesburg here and Orange and Black won a fast game 31 to 29 while Colesburg girls and Midgets won 41 to 8 and 12 to 11, respectively.

Manchester's boys were easy on Feb. 12 when they were defeated here 32 to 19. The girls could not s'em the Manchester tide and lost 54 to 8 while the Midgets fell before the Hopkinton junior high team onslaught by a score of 9 to 12.

The season wound up with the Edgewood boys having won five out of the six home games and lost all of the out-of-town ones. The girls won three out of nine starts; the Midgets three out nine.

In the grade rooms, much emphasis has been given to the lives of the great men whose birthdays are in February. All of the rooms are decorated with the national flag and pictures of the heroes studied. The lives of these people have been related during the opening exercises. A short playet, illustrating the universal story of George and the cherry tree, was given by the fourth grade Better English club.

were suggested as being appropriate. At a gathering in August 1896, people from ten different states were present. It was at that time that Hon. B. W. Newberry was called on for an address. He took the opportunity to suggest that the spot be called Bixby Park and when the audience agreed with him, it was so christened and has been known by that name since.

The State Board of Conservation has retained the name and the indications are that it will always be known as Bixby Park.

Log Cabin Built in 1897

In the year 1897, a commodious log cabin, the shell of which still remains, was built. Its object was to erect and preserve for future generations a building with all its details and furnishings such as the Iowa pioneers lived in. There were upper and lower rooms, a stone fire-place and chimney, a porch along the entire front with balcony overhead, and general equipment for comfort. Dishes, a cooking outfit, chairs and seats were placed in the cabin. Out-door tables, stoves, rustic seats and a long pole swing were added attractions. The spirit of the vandal, however, was soon in evidence and the wanton destruction which followed was pitiful. It showed that without competent supervision such improvements were useless.

Discover Ice Cave

Several years after this, Captain Little of Strawberry Point, acquired by lease the right to mine for lead in the park. He was a gallant veteran of the Civil War, and in younger life had at one time worked in the lead mines near Dubuque, Iowa. He did not succeed in finding lead but he did discover the now famed ice cave. Starting in at a crevice he cut into the hill in a slightly downward course With his helpers, he pushed in a tunnel eighty feet long. A track was laid and a car was used in bringing out the broken rock. While work proceeded comfortably in the winter, during the hot weather of summer it was suspended on account of the intense cold in the tunnel, so cold that it formed ice and menaced health.

Many learned men from various parts of the United States have made visits to the Ice Cave but without agreeing upon a cause of the wonderful phenomenon. From tests, the temperature in the warmest summer weather is found to be twenty six degrees above zero. Ice disappears in the wintertime.

Contains Varied Vegetation

The claim has been made that a larger variety of trees and shrubs is to be found in Bixby Park than in any other place of a like area in Iowa. The highest scientific authorities from the State College at Ames and from the State University at Iowa City, as well as other schools, after surveying the vegitation of the park do not dispute the claim.

For several years after the cabin was built, a register was kept and in it are many names of noted visitors. Remarks written in it include several quite lengthy poems, and the volume is prized as a souvenir by Mr. Bixby.

With the taking over of the park by the state, funds such as an individual could not afford to expend, will eventually be devoted to the improvement of the scenic area. In addition, the protection of the state police power fill make for the continued preservation of its rarities and beauties.

The Nowe'ompatiam camp fire group directed by Miss Florence Johnson, has held weekly meetings and the time was spent in making preparations to give a two act farce, "How Beth Earned Her Camp Fire Honors". It will be presented the latter part of this month.

At graduation time, school friends expect your photograph —and you want theirs.

L. W. MAXSON PRAISES MONTANA

Lloyd W. Maxson, Class of 1901, now manager and part owner of the Phillipsburg Grocery Co., Phillipsburg, Montana writes the enthusiastic letter, overflowing with western spirit, that follows:

Here is a great big "HELLO" to all the boys and girls, of the year 1901 and up to and including the boys and girls of 1927.

It has been many years since I answered the call of the old school bell, but its echo still rings in my ears and I often wish I was back in old Edgewood still going to school, it was the happiest time of my life, but I did not realize it then. I have had many and varied experiences sinces those golden days yet every one of them have been filled with knowledge, none that I really regret, though I have at times paid dear for my experience. Yet there is one lesson I have learnt, and that is, "Never look back, don't cry over what might have been, take your loss if there is one, and immediately forget it, put all your heart and energy into the present and rebuild back toward success." If you do you are bound to be a winner. I have always found there was a silver lining to every cloud, no matter how dark or how gloomy it might seem.

Now, I wish to say just a word to the boys and girls back home, a word for the good old State, that I have adopted as my own. Old Montana, the richest state in the Union for natural wealth and resources. If you are not content with your lot back there and long for a new start in life, a chance to get ahead and be prosperous and happy, come out to Montana, a State just in its making, there are all kinds of opportunities here in any line that you may choose and you are just as welcome if you have a million dollars or only one dollar, if you will but put your shoulder to the wheel and push and keep on pushing you cannot but reach the top in the end. You will soon learn to love the great broad expanse of the open prairies, or the mountains, with their clear beautiful mountain streams, and all kinds of wild game still roaming around the hills, places where you go out into the great solitudes and live close to nature and all her beautiful surroundings. It makes life worth while and you will live as you have never lived before, enjoying life to the utmost.

For myself, I would rather be broke (and I often have been- and live in Montana than have plenty and be forced to live in the east.

Here is an invitation to all the alumni to make me a visit and I will prove to you that the above statement is mild in its assertions.

as well as physical condition, which may be gained only through consistent training.

Says Training Not Hard

Lloyd was asked how he valued training as a requisite to success in athletics. "Training is not nearly so difficult as many think. It merely takes a little conscious forethought in the governing of ones habits. Smoking is only a habit—so is over-eating and many of the other things that are done which harm our bodies. In training, one must remember that it is the same in this as in anything else, that the more one gives, the more he will get out of it."

Five points, Appleton considers important in training: Do not over-eat, just a normal amount of well-balanced food. Do not eat between meals. Get plenty of sleep (about nine hours a day). Have regular habits. Get some physical workout every day.

Later: Capt Appleton won over Blair, Iowa State College wrestler at Ames Saturday in a decision match. His time advantage was over five minutes. The Cornell team lost 9 to 12.
